SPORTING NOTES.

Return of the Ball Tossers From Kamloops—Successful Trip—Pleasant Meeting.

Courtesy of the Kamloops People—The Merits of the Different Clubs Compared.

On the arrival of the Yosemite from Vancouver last night with the base ball players on board, a large number of their friends were on the wharf to welcome them. The Queen City band was in waiting and as soon as the steamer was docked struck up, "Three Cheers for the Red White and Blue" while the crowd cheered lustily. A procession was then formed and the victorious ball players escorted to Campbell's corner where the crowd separated. This evening it is proposed to give them a dinner. Concerning their treatment by the Kamloops people, the boys speak in the highest terms. The following particulars of the tournament will be read with interest.

The team arrived in Kamloops at five o'clock Sunday morning and slept till noon, good accommodation being provided for them at the Cosmopolitan hotel.

The day was spent in taking in the town which was very much admired by those who were making their first visit. On Monday the regular schedule of games prepared by the committee commenced, the Amities playing Vancouver and Westminster playing Donald. The game between the former only lasted an hour and fifteen minutes, so that the players had the opportunity of seeing the greater part of the contest between Westminster and Donald.

The Vancouvers were completely outplayed in the game with the Amities. Their pitcher was first-class but neither of the catchers could hold his delivery. The result was that they failed to score, and at the conclusion of the game withdrew from the tournament. The conduct of Laing, the Vancouver 1st base man, was very unbecoming a baseball player. After the second innings he sneaked away without saying anything about it and compelled his team to substitute another man. Edwards umpired.

The game between Westminster and Donald was very interesting. Up to the end of the 3rd innings the Donalds had it all their own way. They then changed their professional battery for Chesley and Smith, the regular battery. The result was quickly seen and Westminster found no difficulty in batting out 14 runs in the next six innings, which gave them the game, the score standing 17 to 9. The feature of the Westminsters' play was their base running and the coaching of Baker, their captain. Mr. Bennett, captain of the Kamloops team, umpired the game.

Tuesday morning the game between the Westminsters and Amities commenced. It was not a close one by any means shut out by an error of the second baseman who fumbled a ball. At the end of the 4th inning the Westminsters concluded to give up the game, the score standing 11 to 2. Their battery was Spencer & Lewis; umpire, Edwards.

The next was the game between the Amities & Donalds which commenced at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. A very great deal of interest was taken in this game which was watched by nearly everybody in Kamloops. About 1500 spectators were present. Donald put in her professional battery, March and Gallagher, Rathburn, the other professional playing centre field. Both teams were confident of winning. There was no money up amongst the players, but considerable was wagered on the outside, the Amities being the favorites by 20 to 5. After two men were out in the first inning Burnes beat the ball to first base and the next five men scored, giving the Amities a lead which the Donalds could not overtake. The game from that on, however, was very close at times. It was arranged before the game commenced that it should be decided in seven innings on account of the lateness of the hour. The seventh inning was played in semi-darkness, the Amities being in the field in the last half which placed them at a considerable disadvantage. The Donalds were in this way enabled to run up their score and had the bases filled when the last man was struck out. The suppressed excitement when the last man was at the bat ran very high. A pin could be heard to drop on the field. The work of March and Gallagher was excellent, March striking out more Amities than ever any other pitcher had done. Mr. Edwards umpired the game, and as in all cases did it to the entire satisfaction of all parties.

The features of the tournament were the pitching of Baker and Schultz and the catching of Borthwick, who did the receiving perfectly in all three games for the Amities.

Without their professional men the Donald club would be by no means a strong one, although there are one or two good individuals among them.

Westminster has improved her team wonderfully since they played in Victoria and will put up a good game of ball next season.

In the games the sympathies of the majority were with Victoria and Westminster.

The tournament was described by the people up there as a contest between "salt water and bunch grass." They think now that "salt water" is pretty hard to beat.

The Westminster boys who won the second prize of $150, offered at the tournament, are said to have been the happiest people on the train yesterday.

The beautiful cup won by the Amities and the cash prize of $300 in gold is on exhibition in Mr. Charlie Lombard's window. The cup is valued at $75 and is a beauty.

Several of the prizes in the games were won by Lewis, the famous sprinter of the Westminster baseball team.

March, the professional pitcher of the Donalds, said he never met with a better amateur team than the Amities.

Would'nt Close the Door.

An incident occurred as Sir John was leaving the grand stand at Kingston the other day. Miss H. Baker, a resident of Syracuse, N. Y., shook the Premier warmly by the hand, and as she did so said: "Excuse me, sir, I am a thorough American, but I am sure we are not going to close the door against you. No indeed. On the contrary, we are going to open it wide to you." Sir John replied quickly, "Of course you will. You would'nt close the door against such a good-looking chap as me". Miss Baker blushingly added: "No, Sir John, I'll be at the door."

FROM CARIBOO.

The Crime and Suicide of Ah Moon—Presentment and Reply.

Barkerville, Sept. 12.—The events of the past few days have been such as to cause a ripple of excitement in this philosophically calm community. The coming in of the Judge and the prisoner and witnesses, the trial of the accused, and the "grand finale", forming parts of a tragedy begun 10 months ago at the Mouth of Quesnelle, and terminating with the burial of the unhappy culprit to-day. Judge Crease tried the case, the grand jury having brought in a true bill in both counts against the accused—murder and arson. During the trial it appeared that the prisoner, Ah Moon, had been gambling with the deceased, Ah Wah, a quiet, inoffensive man, much older and of good character; had subsequently followed him to his cabin, had a struggle of which the prisoner bore marks on his face, but had been overcome, and stabbed to death. The prisoner cut off his head, arms, and legs and set fire to the house, after dragging out the trunk to the chicken house. The chicken house was covered by an earthen roof, which fell after the fire, and preserved the trunk till this Spring, when it became a silent but powerful witness against him. The trial continued till past midnight and the jury deliberated about two hours and brought in a verdict of guilty. The prisoner was sentenced and the court adjourned at about 3:30 a.m. The prisoner was locked up, but yesterday he managed by the aid of his belt to hang himself to the grating of his cell and was dead, though warm, when cut down. Some matches were found sewed in his shirt. He was a most determined bad character, as evidenced by the fact that his countrymen would have nothing to do with him, and during his long incarceration not one Chinaman visited him. Mr. Cumyow acted in a creditable manner as interpreter and a Mr. Atkinson, from Westminster, acted as Crown Prosecutor.

The Grand Jury, Mr. Geo. Cowan as foreman, made the following presentment: To His Honor Mr. Justice Crease. May it please your Lordship:

We, the Grand Jury, beg to submit the following presentment: First, we regret very much that this assize is not in the position in which we could present your Lordship with the customary "gloves," but are glad to say the calender is very light, only one case; and that arising not from the white portion of our population but from some atrocious, inhuman conduct on the part of the Chinese.

We beg to call your attention to the very defective and unsafe condition of the sidewalks, and are in doubt as to the proper manner of reaching a remedy, this not being a municipality; but would ask your Lordship to point out to the proper authorities the necessity of enforcing the owners of property having dangerous sidewalks to put them in a condition safe to life and limb.

We would also ask your Lordship to stir up the proper officials to be more active in their duty for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

We are glad to say the gaol and lock-up are in good order, but think a good yard should be provided wherein prisoners may take exercise.

We are glad to see your lordship after so many years and tender you our sincere thanks for the cordial way in which you addressed us, and the lucid manner in which you instructed us in our duties and we sincerely hope that the trip to Cariboo has been beneficial to your own and Mrs. Crease's health, as we learn that that was the object of her taking the journey. We wish you both a safe and pleasant trip home.

REPLY BY HIS LORDSHIP.

To the Foreman and other Gentlemen of the Grand Jury:

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your presentment for this assize. Cariboo maintains its old reputation as a law-abiding community. The vindication of the law in the case of the atrocious murder of the Chinaman, the inquiry into which has just been concluded, will be productive of a good effect among that singular people, although the unhappy criminal has himself anticipated with his own hand the execution of the last sentence of the law.

Your notice of the defective and palpably dangerous condition of the sidewalks will be forwarded to the proper quarter, and no doubt attention will be paid to so well founded a representation.

The enforcement of the "Act for the prevention of cruelty to animals," which commends itself to every person in the province as one which should be put in force on every occasion that calls for its exercise, is very necessary. The presentment of a grand jury will be a wholesome stimulus and support to those who have to carry out the provisions of the Act, and your notice conveys a timely warning to those who can be found to maltreat a helpless brute. Your other recommendations will be attended to.

Permit me, in return for your friendly wishes, to give voice to the confident hope which the experience of the country inspires, that the active measures now being taken to develop the resources of Cariboo will be followed by the happiest results. Any permanent success in quartz mining here will have a most beneficient effect far beyond the limits of Cariboo. I have the honor to be, gentlemen, your obedient servant,

HENRY P. P. CREASE, J. S. C.

An inquest was held by Coroner Stone on the remains of the deceased Chinaman and a verdict of wilful and premeditated suicide was brought in.

Jack Pinkerton and Capt. Madden have returned from an exploration on the Bear River section of country. No gold but lots of fish.

The building of the house for the mill is making rapid progress and the brick yard force are doing all that can be done in such weather, but it seems doubtful whether the weather or the force will win.

Splendid Work (?)

The Government are already engaged in pulling down their handiwork on the new Court House. Workmen are engaged in cutting two large gaps in the north wall of the building, through two feet of solid bricks. They have removed over two thousand bricks and will place two windows in the building which will be ten feet high and three feet wide. The Court House, as it now stands, does not reflect much credit upon the architectural ability of Victoria; and if the Government goes on pulling down and tearing out holes here and there in the walls and running stairs and board petitions where such things ought not be, what was intended for a court house will develop into a great Chinese puzzle. Who is responsible for all this stupidity?

TO-DAY'S DISPATCHES.

The Great John L. Dangerously Ill—A U. S. War Ship Preparing for Sea.

An Order Said to Have Been Issued for the Release of Seized Sealers.

Boston, Sept. 20—At nine o'clock this morning John L. Sullivan was resting easily, but his condition was unchanged. He passed a restless night, and did not begin to sleep soundly until six a. m. He had a chill and his hands and feet became cold, and breath very quick. About ten o'clock he felt better. He takes extract of beef every four hours. He will be taken to the Hot Springs, Ark., perhaps to Texas or Mexico.

At 2 p.m., the physicians stated Sullivan was worse. It is believed from what can be learned from others that he is now dangerously ill.

TO PREPARE FOR SEA.

New York, Sept. 20.—The commander of the cruiser Boston has received orders for his vessel to be ready for sea within ten days. It is said that the destination is coast of Central America. This is looked upon as significant coming almost simultaneously with the appearance of the secretary of treasury's order in regard to the discrimination made against United States vessels by the government of Costa Rica. This order commands all officers of customs to see to it and that all cargoes of Costa Rican vessels entering the United States ports be subjected to the discrimination duties levied by Act of March 3rd, 1883.

THE SEALERS.

Ottawa, Sept. 20.—Information has been received here that Marshal Atkins of Alaska, now at Seattle, W. T., in charge of the Canadian schooners seized in Behring Sea last year, has received instructions from Attorney-General Garland to transfer the custody of the schooners to the Marshal for Washington Territory. It is thought the vessels will be turned over to the owners in a few days under bonds, pending the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in reference to the claim of the Alaska Commercial Co., to a monopoly of the privileges in Behring Sea.

MILLS ILL.

New York, Sept. 20—Congressman Mills is ill at the Clarendon House in this city. His condition is not serious.

THE N. P. IN WINNIPEG.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 20—An announcement is made to-day that the Northern Pacific Railway has arranged with the Hudson Bay Company for terminal facilities in this city. They will get thirty acres of ground for which they are to pay only $10,000.

TERRIBLE FATALITIES.

Havana, Sept. 20—The total number of deaths caused by the recent cyclone wards of 1000. At Caimanera property was destroyed or damaged to to the extent of $100,000, and the deaths numbered 100. The greater part of the fatalities occurred along the coast at Catrin and Malanzas. A letter from Sagua says the losses in that district amount to $600,000 and the deaths number several hundred.

BOULANGER IN MOROCCO.

London, Sept. 20—General Boulanger arrived at Tangier, Morocco, yesterday. He visited the Pasha and subsequently started for Gibraltar.

BUBEAR.

Bubear, the oarsman, sailed to-day from Queenstown for New York on the steamer City of Rome.

AMEER DEAD.

Advices from Tashkend state that it is reported that the Ameer of Afghanistan died suddenly.

N. P. OFFICERS.

New York, Sept. 20—At the annual meeting of the Northern Pacific Railway directors to day, Thos. F. Oakes was elected President in place of Robert Harris. August Belmont was succeeded by John C. Bullitt as a member of the Board of Directors. Henry Villard and the rest of the directors were re-elected. Following were also elected: Vice President, John D. Williams; Treasurer, George S. Baxter; Secretary, S. Wilkenson.

YELLOW FEVER.

Jacksonville, Sept. 20—Nineteen new cases reported up to noon; three deaths.

Ten new cases at Decatur, Ala. Regular stampede from the city. Moses Newburg, who arrived at Louisville from Decatur, died last night from yellow fever.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Personal Notes from Ottawa—Valuable Reports from Ogilvie.

(Special to THE TIMES.)

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 20—Inspector Mowat, of the Fisheries Department in British Columbia, was here to-day and interviewed Minister Tupper on matters affecting his official duties in the province. Mowat leaves for the Maritime Provinces on Saturday. He says the run of fish in fresh waters this year was poor but good on the coast. Strickland, who is on his marriage trip from Westminster, is along with him. The latter says the catch fish is practically a failure, although preparations were made for a good run. It is supposed that Mowat's visit here has something to do with the transportation of lobsters to the Pacific Coast as an experiment, and that he goes to the Atlantic Coast in connection therewith. Black, a storekeeper for the C. P. R., Vancouver, is here interviewing the Government.

The scheme for the confederation of Newfoundland with the Dominion is dead at present. The delegates should have arrived here yesterday and yet there is no word of their arrival nor the Government have no information from them. The retaliation has caused the abandonment of the scheme for the present. Ogilvie who wintered in British Columbia adjacent to Alaska has sent in a valuable report but until the arrival of Dewdney no action will be taken, but the Government considers an early settlement of the boundary question of vital importance.

Former Resident Killed.

A letter received from Chicago says a young man named Thomas Hatty was killed in that city on Sept. 7th by falling from the fourth storey of a brick building on which he was working. Hatty resided in this city for three years and was engaged as a bricklayer on numerous buildings. He was an Englishman, 35 years of age.

H D Welburn, of Quamichan, came down to-day and is at the Oriental.

DEATH OF ALEX. McLEAN.

An Old and Highly Respected Citizen Passes Quietly Away.

It is our painful duty to record the death of one of Victoria's oldest and most respected citizens, the late Alexander McLean, J. P. The deceased was born on the shores of the Solway, in the county of Kirkcudbright, Scotland, in 1827, and consequently was 61 years of age at time of death. Coming to Victoria in the early meridian of life he started a small business as shoemaker on Fort street, leaving for Cariboo in '63, where he remained for a year at his business. He returned to Victoria and was employed in the management of the boot and shoe department of a large outfitting establishment at the corner of Fort and Broad streets. On marrying his present wife, nee Miss Stott, they opened out and carried on a clothing and outfitting store near Redfern's jewelry store, Government street, removing after a few years to the present stand on Fort street, where he opened the Scotch House. The deceased gentleman was for many years a member of the City Council and a Provincial Justice of the Peace, and hotly contested the Mayoralty with ex-Mayor Fell in 1886. When the Royal Hospital got into difficulties, the deceased with other prominent citizens, took charge of the affairs of that institution, and by good management not only made the annual government allowance suffice, but also paid off a debt of some $3000 in a few years, and placed it on its present sound financial and economical basis. He had always taken a great interest in the hospital and its management up to the time of his late illness. At the inception of the Jubilee Hospital fund he, from the first, took a leading part, was chairman from the first meeting, and was chosen to preside at all subsequent deliberations which he was enabled to attend. Being of a charitable disposition, the deceased spent much time and money in furthering the worthy objects of many of our charities. In private, his charities were numerous and unknown to the outer world. In his business and magisterial capacity, his outspoken, manly actions won for him the confidence and respect of his fellow townsmen. A staunch upholder of honesty and morality, he stood nobly forth, an example to those who wish to attain the respect and of their fellow men.

After a lengthened visit to the land of his birth last year, he returned to Victoria, and shortly afterwards was taken ill. Possessing a strong constitution, he fought the grim destroyer to the last, attended night and day by a loving wife, who never ceased for a moment in her devoted attentions. For the past month or so he was free from all pain and retained full possession of his faculties up to the time of dissolution, which took place at 6 o'clock yesterday evening.

In church and social matters the deceased took a leading part; and as a member of the Pioneer Society and of the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society he will be greatly missed from their councils.

By the death of the late Alexander McLean we will lose one of our leading and most valued citizens, while his numerous social companionship of a true friend and counsellor, and a valued friend, is greatly missed in the social circle not easily filled.

A wife and son are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and and fond, affectionate father, who have the sympathy of the entire community in this the sad hour of their bereavement.

VICTORIA THEATRE.

A Crowded House Greets the Grismer Combination.

Last evening the old time favorites, the celebrated Grismer Company, opened their engagement at the Victoria Theatre to a crowded house. Although the company were late in making their appearance, owing to the late hour the Sound steamer arrived, yet the crowded audience exhibited a large amount of patience. The "Gods" were in good form, and enlivened the interval of the unavoidable delay in their usual good humored way. At about ten minutes to nine o'clock the curtain was rung up. The play, Clay M. Green's masterpiece, "Forgiven", was placed on the boards in a manner creditable to the reputation of this celebrated company. The story of the piece is simple. Jack of Diamonds, a professional gambler, meets and falls in love with Annie Dennison at a hotel in Florida. Being warned of Jack's failing by the villain of the piece, William Graham, Jack and Annie are married, and the second act reveals them at home in New Orleans. A little girl blesses their union, and although Jack is a devoted husband and fond father, he is still a gambler and Annie is consequently wretched. Jack determines to give up gambling and go into the cattle business in Texas, and determines to become a respectable member of society. He starts off to Texas leaving his wife and child under the care of his friend Graham, who almost before the husband has left the city, prevails on the wife to abandon her home with him. Jack, returning for some reason, overhears the whole scheme. His first thought is to kill Graham. Desiring Graham however to go arm himself, he turns on the wife, and afterwards leaving her for a few moments, returns and finds she has fled with the child, as he supposes with the villain Graham. The next act reveals Jack a cattle king at La Casa, hunting up land. Denver Dan, an old pal, is with him; also "old Pop" whose wife was estranged from him by the villain Graham. Jack discovers his wife a school teacher and his daughter a charming girl of seventeen. Explanations follow; Graham again puts in an appearance, Jack challenges him to a duel; when about to fire "old Pop" steps in and shoots Graham. The piece was a complete success. Mr. Grimsmer as "Jack," and Miss Phoebe Davis as "Annie" fully sustained their world wide reputation. The comedy acting of Messrs. Hatch, Smily and Wier fully bore out their reputation, while the remainder of the company ably supported the piece throughout. The rounds of applause were frequent and showed that the old favorites lost none of their hold on the theatre going people of Victoria.

The play for this evening is Frank Harvey's melo-drama of "The World Against Her." The legitimate drama should be supported and encouraged and last night's audience was an indication of the feeling of our play goers in this direction. "The World Against Her" is the story of a faithful wife's nobility and fortitude through a series of domestic calamities, caused primarily by the stupidity of a too busy husband, and incidentally assisted by the rejected lover of the good wife. The play is full of action; all the incidents are stirring and probable; the language is vigorous, if simple; some of the character sketches are vivid, and every climax is ingeniously contrived and thoroughly effective.

BEHRING SEA SEIZURES.

The diplomatic correspondence between the Imperial and United States Governments, relative to the seizure of the Canadian sealing schooners in Behring's Sea, has lately come to hand. As the vessels seized were at the time of seizure many leagues distant from the Alaskan shores, there is no attempt on the part of Mr. BAYARD to defend the legality of the action of the U. S. cruisers in making the seizures so far beyond the limit of maritime jurisdiction to which any nation can lay claim, as Lord SALISBURY clearly states the case in his letter to Sir L. WEST, of Sept. 10, 1887, the United States appear to claim an exceptional title to the waters of the Behring's Sea, as conveyed to them by Russia when the Alaska territory was ceded by the treaty of 1867. However, in that document there is no mention made of exclusive rights over the waters of Behring's Sea, and special treaty rights between the Russian and American Governments can have no effect upon British subjects.

In 1821 the Russian Government attempted to proclaim the Behring Sea enclosed waters, excluding the trade and commerce of other nations, making it in fact a Russian lake. This attempt was resisted by President MUNROE and his Secretary of State, Mr. JOHN QUINCY ADAMS. The Russians at the time claimed 100 Italian miles from the coast. This preposterous claim being refuted both by the British and American governments, was finally settled by the conventions between the United States and the Russian governments in 1824 and by the British in a year later, wherein all pretensions and claims of Russia were set at rest. Lord SALISBURY, in his concise, logical argument did not leave the United States diplomat a loophole whereby he could creep out of a fair square argument, backed up by the proof of the doctrine preached to the Russians in 1824 by two of America's cleverest statesmen. The noble Lord concludes his letter by a request for the stay of further seizures, and that the owners and crews of the seized vessels should be fully and amply compensated by the United States Government for the seizure of their property and the imprisonment of their crews. The former has been conceded; the latter yet remains in abeyance, which does not redound greatly to the credit of the United States. If the report of the late seizure by a Russian vessel is correct in the particulars as given to the public, such may have a tendency to bring matters to a head. British trade and commerce must be protected in all seas and all waters, and a small taste of the late LORD PALMERSTON's civis Romanus would tell well in diplomatic negotiations with our neighbors across the border. The Trent affair may be remembered as a flagrant breach of the law of nations, a principle for which the United States went to war in 1812, that of the right of search on the high seas.

Mr. DRAKE's masterly brief in the Alaska courts, in connection with the seizures, is also published and as a legal document it will retain a place in the history of the Behring Sea case.

NOTHING BUT SMOKE.

For some time past the columns of the London Times have been filled with letters pro and con on the subject of tobacco smoke, which caused the production of a long article in its leading columns wherein it says, "that a great source of error of the writers was that they attempted to generalize upon basis of limited experience. Tobacco, like a good many other medicines, has a different effect on different constitutions, and there are few to whom the soothing pipe is absolute poison. That the use of the weed has been abused, like a good many other luxuries, must be admitted." Others put down the habit as disgusting; and even here in Victoria we have read letters complaining of judges learned in the law smoking in public places. But then many great men, writers and thinkers, use tobacco, some moderately and some excessively. BURNS used it constantly; so did CHARLES DICKENS. Withal very few people are poisoned with it. Many use it excessively, and the majority of mankind use it in moderation. It cannot have on the whole, the noxious influences on the human system attributed to it by its adversaries. A great deal has been said about cigarette smoking; its baneful influences have been pointed out. Yet the Turks indulge in cigarette smoking immoderately, ing at it all the time except when they are asleep. The most baneful effects of cigarettes as used in Victoria on the rising generation, are the semi-obscene, indecent photo's placed in each packet, in order to entice the sale of that particular brand amongst our youth and aged as well. Objections have been raised to its restriction solely to the male sex. Yet we have it asserted that tobacco is a panacea for all the worries and trials of every day life—household troubles, social disappointments, and political disappointments as well. If a lady is jealous of her neighbor having the latest new bonnet, or the triumph of another at a game of lawn tennis, a good smoke would afford immediate relief. It would be no worse anyway than resorting to the use of morphia and other deleterious drugs, to which it is feared many are addicted throughout the civilized world. Yet we would have much to learn—or perhaps much to forget—before we could reconcile ourselves to the use of the weed by the fair sex. The habits of the men of the present day in smoking in the presence of wives, daughters and sisters, should be discontinued. Tobacco smoke fails to have a soothing effect when inhaled second hand. With a few reforms in the habit, the practice and effects for good or evil would end as it should do, in smoke.

THE TOURNAMENT.

The success which has attended the Kamloops tournament is a source of satisfaction to all friends of that thriving town. It was quite an undertaking for a somewhat isolated place of that size to raise the necessary funds in the first place and to make it sufficiently interesting to draw the people there in the second. But it has succeeded and the money spent in making the arrangements has proved a good investment. The TIMES rejoices in the people of Kamloops success. It has on different occasions tried to impress it upon Victorians that they should occasionally get up something of this kind themselves. There are here the most beautiful parks, water stretches and natural sporting grounds in the world and situated as the city is, in the centre of large communities, there is no reason why a sporting tournament of a week might not be held here every year with great advantage to our citizens and to the entertainment of all who attended it. Victoria offers every facility for the carrying out of all kinds of sport. Better than all, our cricket, base ball, and lacrosse players to complete the happiness of Victoria is to recover the lawn-tennis championship. On the water, at the race track, on the rifle range, in the lacrosse and cricket fields on the diamond our muscle has been everywhere victorious. Only when we think of lawn-tennis are our countenances down cast and our faces covered with confusion. In the recent tournament the Victoria base ball and lacrosse players have covered themselves with glory and made for themselves hosts of friends by their gentlemanly behavior. The ties uniting the two extremes of the province have been drawn closer by the meeting and the results have been mutually satisfactory to both.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The Duchess of Marlborough wishes to restore the glories of Blenheim Palace, with a view to giving big entertainments there next winter. She sent for a builder to mend the leaky roof and was startled when he estimated the cost at $150,000. This gives some idea of the magnitude of the palace.

Disappointment seems to follow Sir John Macdonald's most cherished wish to complete the Dominion of Canada by the inclusion of Newfoundland. Canadians, whose experience of province buying has been romantically expensive, may be excused if they have never grown enthusiastic about the completion of their boundary. Sir John had better look to Greenland now. It would cost much less and would give on the map a tremendous show for the money. The inhabitants would probably have no foolish fears about retaliation.

The Colonial Bishops must have been horribly mortified at their reception in England. Having no part in the system or government of the Established Church of England, their position is equivocal, for they occupy in the ecclesiastical world the position of missionary bishops and are not acknowledged as real bishops of the church as established by parliament. The following is from the London Truth: As I have before stated, the Queen positively refused to receive the prelates attending the Conference, although her own favorite parson the Dean of Windsor, was was actively engaged in it, and Lord Salisbury's High Church blood bubbled at the idea of a formal reception of the bishops by Her Majesty, who, however, would not hear of anything of the kind, much to the discomfiture of the Prime Minister, who made another effort to arrange for a reception at Osborne of a few "representative" prelates; but this attempt also failed, which was a good thing, as there would have been endless jealousies and squabblings if merely a few bishops had been selected for the Royal notice. The Dean of Windsor did his best to compensate for his Sovereign's indifference by entertaining large parties of the American and Colonial prelates at his deanery, and they were allowed to see everything of interest in the Castle.

OUR TOWN MAJOR.

Sanitary Press—McKenzie Bowell—City Sewerage—Amities Return.

The man on Government street, next door to the barber's, has the whole field to himself, now that "Willie" is gone. The descendant of Brise Boru has also taken his farewell, and only for the little decent leaven introduced from the East, the whole baking would smell so sour that the sanitary authorities would have to be called on to interfere. Contagion spreads rapidly and it is hoped the pulling down of the veranda and the new light admitted from the East, will have a good effect on the foeted institution.

The Colonist as a Conservative paper ought to give its readers the latest utterances of Dominion Cabinet Ministers. The Major eagerly looked for the report of the interview of the Winnipeg Call with the Minister of Customs when passing through Winnipeg, where the hon. gentleman stated that "it was not the intention to remove the office of interpreter from Victoria." He also stated something about the decay of Victoria. How does the Colonist man take the former announcement? He didn't have Mr. Gardner removed after all, nor yet have the procurer Menzies released from jail. Regarding the honorable minister's remarks about the decay of Victoria; having no lots here he attempted to assist in the decay. He said the city was dirty. Well, considering the company he was in while here, we can't wonder at the expression. "Show me your company and I'll tell you what you are," is an old saying and a very true one too. With representatives who only look after themselves, we must expect nothing but insults and neglect. Only see how the Dominion Government acted about exploring the black cod fishing grounds. Have the people of the province gone asleep to all sense of their interests that they fail to notice these insults and neglects. Come, wake up and show those Ottawa wire-pullers that they can't pull the wool over your eyes worth a cent.

The Amity boys returned triumphant. The band tooted, the rain came down, and John Chinaman fired off his crackers! So much for the honor of Victoria. Her youth go abroad to contend in the field of sports for the honor of their city. When they return they receive an ovation. That's just as it should be. The Major congratulates.

Bravo! Ald. Wilson, you're making a good record. You know what is is wanted for the sewers. Ald. Harris may be acting in the interests of the city, but who knows? If the Pickering plan was considered and approved of by the men of the time, why should not the energetic Alderman who has the interest of the people so much at heart, give the public and the Major his views as to where the plan is defective. The Major, amongst other accomplishments, knows a little about drainage, and in his youth could survey an Irish bog hole with as many sides as a star fish. Come, Alderman, let's have your objections and we'll argue. The people will act as umpire

So the C Battery have nowhere to lay their heads, and must turn out at this inclement, damp, season of the year. The Colonist man says that the boys enjoy the idea of a few weeks on the bleak side of Beacon Hill. It would be well if he were to go into camp; it might have a salutary effect and blow some of the nonsense out of him. The C's have had camping enough for one season, and more comfortable quarters must be found for them than that stated by the Colonist. Poor fellows they are made the shuttlecock of politics, clique and party. The "whom" of the air have nests and political foxes comfortable holes, but the poor Battery men have no where to lay their heads!

UNIONIST CONFERENCE

London, Sept. 19.—Hopes of a disruption between tories and unionists were dispelled to-day by the unionist conference at Bradford. Chamberlain dominated at the conference which adds greatly to the importance of the resolutions adopted. These pledged the party to sink all minor disputes and to support the government till home rule collapsed—in other words until Gladstone dies. Chamberlain in a speech said the heading of the rupture in the liberal ranks made by the disaffection of the unionists was impossible. He denied that the evictions had been unfair. It would be gross injustice to social order if the laws were permitted to be defied under the menaces of the league. The Unionists would protect minority in Ireland, and preserve the honor of the country.

BLINDFOLDED POLICEMEN.

All London is roaring with laughter over the cartoon in the last number of Punch, representing a blindfolded policeman seeking criminals while unconsciously dodging between their legs. The cartoon is said to have aroused a feeling of the highest indignation in the breast of the Home Secretary.

WHITECHAPEL MURDERS.

The inquest on the body of the woman found murdered in Whitechapel was resumed to-day. The evidence confirmed the theory that the murderer is a skilled anatomist. It was shown that certain organs of the murdered woman were removed in a way that no one but an expert could have done it, and the theory that the murder was committed by an insane surgeon finds many believers.

STOPPED THE AGITATION.

The Rome correspondent of the Chronicle says that Mgr. Persico reports to the Vatican that the Irish bishops have succeeded in allaying the intensity of the nationalist agitation.

A Common Cold

Is often the beginning of serious affections of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes, and Lungs. Therefore, the importance of early and effective treatment cannot be overestimated. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral may always be relied upon for the speedy cure of a Cold or Cough.

Last January I was attacked with a severe Cold, which, by neglect and frequent exposures, became worse, finally settling on my lungs. A terrible cough soon followed, accompanied by pains in the chest, from which I suffered intensely. After trying various remedies, without obtaining relief, I commenced taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and was

I contracted a severe cold, which suddenly developed into Pneumonia, presenting dangerous and obstinate symptoms. My physician ordered the use of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. His instructions were followed, and the result was a rapid and permanent cure.—H. E. Stimpson, Rogers Prairie, Tex.

Two years ago I suffered from a severe Cold, which settled on my Lungs. I consulted various physicians, and took the medicines they prescribed, but received only temporary relief. A friend induced me to try Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. After taking two bottles of this medicine I was cured. Since then I have given the Pectoral to my children, and consider it

Some time ago I took a slight Cold, which, being neglected, grew worse, and settled on my Lungs. I had a hacking cough, and was very weak. Those who knew me best considered my life to be in great danger. I continued to suffer until I commenced using Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Less than one bottle of this valuable medicine cured me, and I feel that I owe the preservation of my life to its curative powers.—Mrs. Ann Lockwood, Akron, New York.

SHIRLEY CARSTONE.

By ELIZA ARCHARD.

[Copyrighted by the American Press Association.]

CHAPTER VIII.

A CHANGE.

Shirley became impatient to begin her work.

Col. Carstone seemed to get well, and for a time appeared quite the same. But after a month or two, it became evident he was not the same. He had been as unusually calm, self controlled man before the accident that befell him on the State Line turnpike. Especially, though by nature quickly angry, he had had his temper singularly well in hand. Shirley noticed that he had become unaccountably irritable. The slightest cause, a trifle, threw him into an uncontrollable rage.

The first time she observed this they were riding together in the little light carriage. Her father was driving. A boy started up before them in the road, then slunk to one side. He was the forlornest tatterdemalion of a child, a mass of rags and dirt. He was a picture to excite profound pity, being stunted and starved looking, with stooping shoulders and narrow, hollow chest. He had large blue eyes, that looked glassy above his thin cheeks. But they were shifting furtive eyes, as if wont to glance from side to side, looking for a blow from behind, or for something to lay hands on, and make off with. He was a woe, hungry faced creature.

"What a pitiful looking child," said Shirley.

"Thah! That's the little devil that lost me the sorrel colt. Get out of the way, there, you!"

Col. Carstone gave the child a cut across the poor little shoulders with his whip. The child cried with pain.

"Why, father!" said Shirley. "How could you do that?"

"Let him keep out of my sight, then."

In all his life he had never spoken so before. She said nothing; not a word till they reached home. Neither did the colonel. But Shirley straightway gathered up some of Percy's clothes, a basket of the food that is dear to the appetite of a boy, and went back to the road, and found the half starved creature, and fed and comforted him. 'Twas poor little Rip, the baby tramp. She interceded with the local authorities for him. He did not belong to Linwood parts, or indeed anywhere else.

"We can do nothing for him. He's none of ours," they said.

"But you can't turn him out to starve, can you?" she asked.

They "reckoned" they couldn't do that, hardly. So after some delay, and much hemming and hawing, Rip, Nobody's child, was sent to the county poorhouse. There he had food and shelter, such as they were. There we leave him, for the present. But he will come in again. Though he did not belong to Linwood, he belongs to this story.

The brief fit of anger which surprised Shirley so that day in her father was only the first of many like it. He who was wont to be the sweetest, merriest of men to his family became a terror to them at times. What had come over their father? He realized the change himself, at times, and begged the forgiveness and forbearance of his wife and daughter in a humble way that brought tears to their eyes.

He was not well in other respects either. He dragged his limbs with a sense of pain and heaviness, though he went about the mill and farm still, and followed the old ways. One day he sat in the porch with the children and their mother, looking out at the peaceful valley below. A sudden gust of wind blew a speck of something into his eye. The speck proved to be a poisonous gnat. It blinded him. The eye became presently so swollen and painful that it was necessary to shut out its light. Shirley bound a bandage about the wounded eye.

"Stop, Shirley," said he "don't cover up both eyes."

"I didn't papa; I only bound up the right eye."

He passed his hand across the left eye to make sure. He opened and closed the lid several times.

Then he sat in utter silence a moment.

"God help me!" he said at length, "I am going blind in my left eye!"

It was too true. The sight of the eye was all gone but the faintest glimmering of a gray like twilight. He was unable to distinguish one object from another with that eye. Other signs of failing powers followed. His memory had been clear and powerful. Now he lost recollection of important matters. Images of people and events became confused in his brain. He forgot sometimes the names of his children, and called one by the name of another. A pain in his head troubled him.

With a sinking heart the faithful daughter watched these signs. It was unutterably sad to see such symptoms of decay in this man of princely heart and brain. At last the girl observed that her father could not speak certain words distinctly any more. His articulation was thick and difficult, like that of a drunken man. But this was not the worst. Others, outside of the stone house, began to notice the change, too, and to talk of it. Ere long the everlasting Mis' Simpkins tackled black Sam in the village. Said she:

"It's beginnin' to be whimpered about among folks hyer in town that Col. Carstone is losin' of his mind."

"What in thunder you talkin' about?" replied Sam, with an indignant air. He had heard Col. Carstone say that and thought it sounded high toned.

That there might be no possibility of misunderstanding, Mis' Simpkins came out flat footed with the question:

"Boss goin' crazy, ain't he?"

Sam flared up mightily. The honor of the Carstone family hung upon him. He felt the responsibility of the occasion. He answered:

"Goramitey, Mis' Simpkins! Linwood people's a pack o' po' white trash, da'ts what dey ar'. Folks what's got plenty brains don't go crazy. It don't run in der families. It's only yer po' trash dat loses der mins, an' dey lose 'em huntin' arter other people's business. I spects to hyar dat all Linwood's moved into de loonattic asylum befo' long. Yah! yah!" With a twinkle of white teeth, and a bobbing of gray head, Sam turned his back on Linwood.

But he looked very grave when next day Col. Carstone said he meant to start that afternoon to the city. A look of intelligence passed between Shirley and the old servitor.

"Papa," said Shirley, "don't you think Sam had better go with you?" It irritated him.

"I think," he answered, "that I am still capable of taking care of myself."

"Oh, well, no offense, Col. Carstone," said Shirley, lightly. She thought to soothe his wounded pride. "It will be a relief to you to get away from taking care of the troublesome pack of us here."

Her father's brief anger was over. He turned his eye upon the group that gathered to see him off, the handsome, merry children, the beautiful, elder daughter, and the tender, pretty mother of them all. He glanced from one to another with a look of love and pride. Then he kissed them, one after another, which was a work of time, there were so many of them. A new baby had taken the place of the old one. There were always babies in the stone house. The father kissed the tiny newcomer last of all. Then he placed it in Shirley's arms, not his wife's. And he said:

"Take care of your mother, Shirley. Take care of them all."

Those were his last words to them.

He descended the hill with his slightly dragging gait, and they saw him no more.

In many a day the colonel had not felt so well as he did next morning. A sense of exhilaration and a feeling of youth and lightness lifted him quite beyond the gloom that had oppressed him for weeks. He was passionately fond of music. In earlier days he himself had been an amateur singer of no common ability. A famous prima donna was singing in opera in Chesterton this very week. On the evening of that day "Norma" was to be given. It was one of his old favorites. Tender memories were joined with it for him. It was at a performance of "Norma" he first met his wife. Through twenty-five years of happy life that night smiled back on him.

What a lily of a girl his Alice was then, in her white dress and white gloves, with flowers in her hair. Not at all like Shirley. Their daughter was of a stronger mold—and he was glad of it, perhaps, but if ever there was a flower maiden on earth, his sweet Alice had been one. If ever wife was faithful, tender, and lovely, the flower maiden had been so to him. How happy, thrice happy, she had made him. His lot had been blessed above that of common men. He smiled as he thought of all this.

The airs in the fine old composition were Col. Carstone's especial favorites, and they were enchantingly sung. He listened like a bird to catch each golden note, and smiled with exquisite happiness, as the sweet, well remembered strains floated to his ear.

It was the opening of the season. The audience was a brilliant one. Hundreds of refined and cultured musical people had gathered to give warm greeting to their prized singers. The ladies were in light, flower-like dresses, fairly rivaling the loveliness of nature's own blossoms, likewise scattered there in profusion. The lights shone like stars. The air was sweet with perfume and melody. The scene was like a fairy garden. Not one who was there ever forgot it.

In one of the pauses of the noble music a hush like the breath of night fell on the great audience. They were stilled till almost a heart beat could be heard.

Into the midst of this exquisite silence, after this strain of celestial melody, a blood-curdling cry broke. A man was seen to fall forward. It was Col. Carstone. He had been stricken dead in one moment.

Examination revealed that he had received a fatal brain injury from the fall in the State Line road months before. The wonder was he had lived so long.

They took his body home to the stone house. Death had conquered. Never again would the busy brain work and the strong arm be lifted to protect his own. Never, though they die of hunger, or be driven out homeless. Though their innocent blood cry to heaven, that which lies there in the coffin will not hear.

Yet Death, the victor, laid his hand lightly upon the dead man. The marble like countenance took on a beauty, a nobleness, yea, a majesty, that glorified it beyond any comeliness the face of the living man ever wore. It was so grand a beauty that even the rustic neighbors noted it, and spoke of it years afterward. Whatever was good in his nature lay revealed, undisturbed longer by passion or weakness. Death the Destroyer was Death the Beautifier.

So Thomas Carstone slept with his fathers.

"Well," said Mis' Simpkins, "he had an insurance of $10,000 on his life, and everything comfortable about him. He was prepared to die."

Was it from the clouds the voice seemed to come that said to Shirley:

"Take care of your mother, Shirley. Take care of them all.

To be continued.

FROM MAPLE RIDGE.

Presentation to Rev. Mr. Hemlaw—A Pleasing Incident.

Maple Ridge, Sept. 15—For a few weeks past the Rev. R. B. Hemlaw's health began to fail and he has been advised by his medical attendants to go to the upper country. Anticipating his departure a number of his friends met at the parsonage on Friday evening, the 14th inst. Mr. Hemlaw has for the last fifteen months ably and acceptably filled the position of pastor of the Methodist Church. A very enjoyable time was spent. Mr. W. J. Harris occupied the chair and Mr. Robert Blake read the following address:

REV. R. B. HEMLAW—Reverend Brother,—As the relations which existed between us as pastor and people are about to be terminated, we deem it proper at this time to express to you, however imperfectly, our high appreciation of your worth. It is with feelings of disappointment that we anticipate your early removal from Maple Ridge, and we even now pray that your health may be speedily restored, thereby removing the necessity of your departure for the upper country. We can bear testimony of your possessing that faculty by which all true ministers of the gospel are distinguished—the faculty of being thoroughly in earnest in the discharge of your various duties. In the pulpit, in the Chief Templar's chair, in the Bible class, and in your daily intercourse with the community, your grand aim in life, proclaiming the "Old, old story" and of reclaiming fallen humanity from the allurements of the intoxicating cup, is well known to all of us. We regret sincerely you are leaving us, but we trust that the quiet of temporary retirement, relieved of those cares and responsibilities you have recently borne may conduce to your welfare and that your wonted health and vigor may be fully recovered. In conclusion we beg that you will accept this address and purse and with them our best wishes for the health, long life and happiness of yourself and Mrs. Hemlaw.

W. J. HARRIS,
R. A. BRADEN,
ROBT. BLAKE,
H. ABERCROMBIE.

Mr. Hemlaw thanked the meeting. He was taken much by surprise, not only by the address just read and purse presented, but by the many other acts of kindness towards himself and Mrs. Hemlaw by the people of Maple Ridge. It was a matter of great gratification to him that his humble efforts called forth such magnificent tokens of appreciation.

A Warning.

The modes of death's approach are various, and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and when these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promptness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your throat, lungs or nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief.

QUEEN AT THE FAIR.

Her Majesty Admires the Douglas Fir of B. C. and Our Scenery.

From the Glasgow Herald, Aug. 25th: Her Majesty then entered the Canadian court, where she was received by Mr. Graham, the Scotch agent for the Colonial Government, and by Capt. Clark, who is in charge under the Dominion Government. Her Majesty, who was feeling a little wearied with her long tour through the courts, was here accommodated with a chair brought from the stand of Messrs. Gardiner & Son, and belonging to their pearl bedroom suite. In order to render the court more attractive, Capt. Clark had laid down red cloth, on which were spread robes and furs of various kinds, including musk ox, buffalo, moose, bear lynx, wolf and fox, all drawn from the stall of Messrs. Renfrew & Co., of Montreal, who kindly undertook, on the part of the Dominion Government, to furnish the natural history section of the Dominion exhibit. The only addition to the ordinary contents of the court was a Canadian maple, and it, being symbolical of Canada, was very properly in its place. On entering the court the maple was at once observed by Her Majesty. She then examined several specimens of the finefurs and at the request of Her Majesty, Princess Beatrice ordered a number to be sent to Blythswood. The Indian birch bark canoe was noticed, as were also the trophies of grasses and grains so tastefully erected and displayed. Her attention was directed to a large block of coal, and the excellence of the seam from which it had been taken was explained. Turning to the back to the court Her Majesty expressed herself as extremely well pleased with the neat and tasteful trophy of the woods of Eastern Canada, and referred with evident astonishment to the large cube of Douglas pine from British Columbia. Turning to the right side of the court, the Queen viewed with evident interest the large collection of photographs of Canadian scenery by Messrs. Notman & Son, of Montreal, noticing more especially the large and interesting series of views of the scenery along the line of the Canadian Pacific railway through the Rocky mountains. She was graciously pleased to accept as a souvenir of her visit to the court a large framed photograph of the Canadian national park in the Rocky mountains, and she was further pleased to order a series of views of Canadian scenery to be sent to Blythswood.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria,
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria,
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria,
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

CITY AND PROVINCE.

—Ice Cream at Steitz's. *

—Kurtz's Jubilee Cigars are now ready.

—Oysters and Turtles at Poodle Dog.

—Largest spring chickens of the season at Beauchamp's, Yates street. *

—John Parker received 591 head of sheep on last night's steamer from the Sound.

—Dr. Morrison has removed to Moody's Block, 76 Yates street, up stairs. 1m * —Fresh Oysters at the New England Bakery. Delivered to all parts of the city. Telephone No. 161. *

—The Cutting Company put up 137,000 cases of salmon this season at their two canneries on Cook's Inlet.

—Holloway's Corn Cure is the medicine to remove all kinds of corns and warts, and only costs the small sum of twenty-five cents. *

—There is nothing equal to Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator for destroying worms. No article of its kind has given such satisfaction. *

—Take Ayer's Pills and be cured. Misery is a mild word to describe the sufferings of body and mind, caused by habitual constipation. A moderate use of Ayer's Pills will invariably regulate the bowels.*

—Canker humors of every description, whether in the mouth, throat, or stomach, are expelled from the system by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. No other remedy can compare with this, as a cure for all diseases originating in impure or impoverished blood. *

—John Hayes, Credit P.O., says:—"His shoulder was so lame for nine months that he could not raise his hand to his head, but by the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil the pain and lameness disappeared, and although three months has elapsed, he has not had an attack of it since." *

—Mr. George Tolen, Gravenhurst, Ont., writes: "My customers who have used Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic cure say that it has done them more good than anything they have ever used." It has indeed a wonderful influence in purifying the blood and curing diseases of the Digestive Organs, the Liver, Kidneys, and all disorders of the system. *

—There is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures lameness and soreness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence. *

—Premonitions of approaching danger, in the shape of digestive weakness, lassitude, inactivity of the kidneys, pains in the region of the liver and shoulder blades, mental depression coupled with headache, furred tongue, vertigo, should not be disregarded. Use Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure, and avert the peril to health. It removes all impurities and gives tone to the whole system. *

The Shooting Accident.

J. Wright, who was accidentally wounded by the discharge of a pistol, is doing well. He was examining a pistol on Tuesday evening with a son of Mr. B. Lettice when the weapon accidentally exploded, the ball entering his left leg above the knee. The ball passed through his leg and fell on the floor.

New Goods.

Small Salmon Pack.

The schooner Ours has arrived in San Francisco from Cook's Inlet, Alaska, with a cargo of 4082 cases of canned salmon. Captain Everson reports the catch of salmon as the smallest known for many years.

Blue Ribbon Club.

A fair audience attended the Blue Ribbon meeting last night in Temperance Hall. Dr. Siddall, M. A., occupied the chair. A speech on temperance was delivered by a gentleman from Yorkshire, England. The President addressed the meeting and a pleasant evening was spent by the advocates of prohibition.

Corrig School.

This school has opened with an attendance of over thirty boys from some of our most respected families. The Rev. Mr. Brenton, as principal, gives the pupils the benefit of his wide experience, and is assisted by an able body of assistants. Mr. John Talbot, an experienced and successful master from Nonington School, Kent, England, has just arrived to act as assistant resident master.

Mining Company Officers.

At the annual meeting of the Hidden Treasure Mining Company, held in Kamloops on the 15th, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Pres., J. S. Chase; Vice-Pres., Morris Moss; Secy. R. H. Lee; Treas., Robert McDougall; Auditor, F. H. Robson; Manager, John Morrison; Directors, J. S. Chase, John Morrison, R. H. Lee, Robt. McDougall, F. W. McKechnie.

An Invitation

Is extended to all our customers to call and inspect our latest fall importation of woolens from European markets. Having secured at great expense the services of Mr. Wm. Sheeir, late of Boston, Mass., a competent mechanic, to act as foreman for us we are now prepared to turn out work second to none on the North Pacific Coast. A. GRAGG & SON, Artist Tailors, 42 Yates street. *2w

To Camp Out.

The men belonging to C Battery will camp out on Beacon Hill Park during the exhibition. Lieut.-Colonel Holmes, D. A. G., applied to the City Council last night for permission to use a portion of the park and was granted leave to place tents on the hill. Some time since their new barracks were completed, and it is the subject of much comment that the Battery should be placed in tents during the wet season whilst the new barracks remain unoccupied.

Locating Halibut Banks.

The activity of the Americans on this coast in developing the fishing industry presents a strange contract to the way this all important matter is treated by our government. The United States steamship Albatross has sailed from Seattle to definitely locate the halibut banks at Cape Flattery. The expedition is accompanied by Prof. O. B. Johnson, naturalist, well known as "Bug" Johnson, who is now making a specialty of Puget Sound fisheries.

Electric Light.

The Brush electric light plant which was used on the steamer Rithet has been removed to the Albion Iron Works. Last night the employees of that establishment were engaged in making pipes for the Vancouver Water Works Company, and are much pleased with the light. The plant is of 2000 candle power and lights up the boiler and machine shops R. B. McMicking fitted up the plant. Work on the Victoria water pipes is also in hand and a large number of men find employment during the night and day.

Smuggling to Make Expenses.

A member of one of the most prominent families in Oregon was caught in Seattle the other night with seven and a half pounds of smuggled opium in his possession. Inspector Hubbard, on the Olympian, got wind of the fact, that opium was secreted in a certain room. Instead of waiting to catch the man too, he raided the room and in the top of a bunk found the stuff neatly concealed. The man occupying the room had been in Victoria and on the Sound for the past few weeks, and the authorities suppose he took this light way of smuggling as a means of paying his traveling expenses. He was arrested for smuggling.

Walsh in Whatcom.

The jail breaker was seen in Whatcom on Wednesday. A telegram was received in this city this morning stating that the authorities can have the man by sending specials officers for him. The stolen boat was found in a bay about thirty miles from Whatcom. The Seattle Chief of Police says the Victoria police can have Walsh if they like, for the Seattle authorities do not want him. How is this? Walsh was convicted by bringing stolen goods from the U. S. into Victoria, and now when he returns to the country whose laws he first violated the police say they do not want him. It looks as though there were something wrong in the administration of the law in Seattle.

B. C. Exhibit.

A Toronto despatch says: The British Columbia exhibit is a grand success. Among the notabilities who have visited it and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the fine collection of rich mineral ore, coal, fruits, vegetables and farm products, are the Governor-General, Lord Stanley; Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, Sir Alexander Campbell, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario; Mayor Clark, of Toronto; General Sir Frederick Middleton, Col. Gzowski, A. D. C., Hon. O. Mowat, Premier of Ontario; Vicar General Cooney, of the Archdiocese of Toronto, and many others. The exhibit is visited by large crowds every day, who go away greatly impressed with the resources of the Pacific Province. The collection is doing a grand work for British Columbia. The press in Toronto speak in the highest terms of praise for its collection.

CITY COUNCIL.

Sewerage—Electric Street Railway—Composition Drain Pipe.

The regular weekly meeting of our City Aldermen was held last evening. Present His Worship Mayor Grant, Ald. Powell, Coughlan, Kelly, Wilson, Styles, Vigelius, Harris.

Minutes of previous meetings read and on motion, duly seconded, adopted.

From J. N. Muir, stating that he protested against removing earth from Christ Church reserve.

Ald. Styles, chairman of the street committee said he knew nothing of the matter and did not instruct anyone to carry away earth. Referred to the street committee.

From Griffin, White, & Co., of San Francisco stating that they have telegraphed to Philadelphia for 40 tons of pipe. Received and filed.

From E. G. Prior & Co., stating that a sidewalk was laid in front of their property at the corner of Government and Johnson streets. Referred to the street committee.

From T. Moffatt calling attention to a drain on Simcoe street. Referred to street committee with power to act.

From Dempster & Beak asking permission to erect a shed on Courtenay street. Referred to Fire wardens.

From R. S. Rendell stating that he is troubled with geese. They encroach on his property and destroy his garden. The communication was received and filed.

From Lieut-Colonel Holmes requesting permission to use the Park adjoining Agricultural Hall for the purpose of erecting tents during the Exhibition. Permission granted.

From 27 hack drivers, requesting the Council to ask Sergt. Sheppard to apologize for a statement made during the trial of a summons against Dr. Davie. At that time Sergt. Sheppert said "the hackmen would swear to anything." The communication was referred to the Police Committee.

From the City Barristers, enclosing a lengthy report from Thos. Davie, regarding the judgment in the case of Hendry versus the Corporation.

Ald. Harris moved, seconded by Ald. Vigelius, that the report be received and the account paid.

Ald. Coughlan said he would like to have the matter laid over for one week. The Alderman wished time to look over the report.

The motion was withdrawn and the question laid over for one week.

From residents of Vancouver street, objecting to dumping of rubbish near their premises. Referred to Street Committee.

From M. L. Rugg, asking the Council to lay a sidewalk on Discovery street in front of his new premises. Referred to Street Committee to report.

From T. H. Lambkin, certifying that C. Hayward has completed his contract on James Bay bridge. Received and referred to Finance Committee.

From H. F. Heisterman, on behalf of the Victoria Electric Street Railway Company, asking for permission to run a line of street cars in this city. They also asked for the right to own exclusive franchise for 15 years. Referred to Electric Light and Street Committees to report.

From J. D. Warren asking permission to erect poles and lay rails in the streets. The gentleman agreed to place cars on the thoroughfares to carry passengers to any part of the city at a cost of five cents for each passenger. Referred to Electric Light and Street Committee.

From Gabriel & Olsen calling attention to their new patent pipes which produce material made of composition which will be sold at a cost less than iron or vitrified pipes. The gentlemen wished to bring the pipes to the notice of the Council in connection with the drainage of this city. Referred to Sanitary and Drainage Committees.

Ald. Harris informed the Council that the pumps supplying the upper levels will be closed on Friday next to clean the boilers.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Ald. Kelly's railway bonus by-law was laid over.

Ald. Kelly said he would like to have the question of a bonus for a railway laid over indefinitely. He interviewed several influential citizens and found they were wide awake to the fact that our city can become a great centre. Granting a handsome bonus to a railway company would be following what the neighboring cities in the province are doing. Offer good inducements to a company and we can have railway connection with the East in a short time. In the meantime the speaker would interview members of the Board of Trade and he felt confident they would assist the grand undertaking.

Ald. Harris' notice to place a by-law before the ratepayers to raise the sum of $300,000 for sewerage purposes was brought up.

Ald. Coughlan said if the Council intend to raise a loan they should ask for enough to complete a sewerage system for the whole city. It is getting late in the year and it is a question whether the Johnson street sewer will be completed.

Ald. Harris said the Council did not know the amount required to properly drain this city. They did not know what an extensive work the proper sewerage of this city would amount to. The drawing up of a by-law would take considerable time.

His Worship said that he thought it would be advisable to get the proposed sewerage scheme well in hand, so that it could be proceeded with in the early spring. It would take some time to perfect the working plans and further, that he did not think it would be in the interest of economy to borrow the necessary money on the basis provided by the Municipal Act; by the conditions of that act the corporation must provide a sinking fund, and when it is considered that the sinking fund at most will not carry more than 3 per cent, perhaps in the near future less, it can be at once seen that there would be a loss to the city of the difference between the interest paid and the interest received, compounded. He explained that there are two other systems adopted by financiers, viz., to pay back a portion of the loan when interest is paid, calculated at the same rate of interest as is paid for the loan itself. The other is simply to borrow the money with a stipulation that the debentures may be called in and paid after a stated number of years. The last proposition is the one that His Worship favored, as it would impose upon the revenue the smallest amount of immediate tax; but before either of these plans could be accepted the corporation will require to ask the legislature to give the necessary power, which ought to be done as soon as the House meets.

Ald. Wilson said he would second Coun. Harris' motion provided the amount is raised to $400,000 and the Pickering plans carried out to the letter.

Ald. Styles said the Pickering system did not include several streets.

Ald. Harris said he would prefer that Ald. Wilson would not second his motion on those conditions.

Ald. Vigelius said Mr. Pickering agreed to build a main sewer for $150,000. If the matter was left to the ratepayers they would certainly vote against a by-law which would not give this city a complete sewerage system. The motion made by Ald. Harris received no seconder on this account.

The motion was amended to raise a loan not exceeding $300,000. Ald. Wilson seconded the amendment. Carried.

The Public Morals By-law was laid over until Wednesday next.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Ald. Coughlan asked when the plans of the Johnson street sewer will be ready.

Ald. Harris said the city surveyor promised to have the plans ready last night. He had an extra hand engaged for some days.

Ald. Powell called attention to the dangerous condition of a road on Church Hill.

Ald. Styles did not consider the place dangerous, because the electric light pole is situate near the property.

Ald. Vigelius said the letter from the Manager of the Bank of B. C. regarding Smith & Clark's factory was referred to the City Barristers.

The account for $100 to be paid Mr. H. P. Bell, for assisting the City Surveyor to draw up plans for sewerage, was ordered to be paid.

Ald. Vigelius moved that the yearly vacation be granted the corporation officials. Carried.

Council then adjourned.

PERSONAL.

Items Telling of the Movements of Well-Known Persons.

T. McK Lambley, of Exderby, is at the Clarence.

J. L. Farron was a passenger from Vancouver last night.

W. H. Mead, Pacific Coast Agent of the Royal Route, arrived last night.

Mrs. Gray, wife of Justice J. H. Gray, arrived from the mainland last night.

T. J. Burnes, of the American Hotel, returned from Kamloops last night.

Mrs. J. D. Pemberton and daughter were passengers on last night's steamer from Vancouver.

M. Lucien Polyt, railway inspector for the French government, left this morning for a trip on the Island railway.

L. P. McCarty, Secretary of the Pacific Coast Press Association came over on the Sound steamer last night and left again this morning.

Commissioner Miall leaves Ottawa for British Columbia in a few days, and proposes to enquire into a scheme for the division of the province into inland revenue collectors's districts.

Toronto Globe: Miss Hendrie left Hamilton September 11th for a tour round the world. She will visit Calgary, N.W.T., Victoria, Vancouver and Japan, returning by way of Suez Canal to England. She undertakes the journey alone and will be away about a year.

ELECTRIC TRAMWAYS.

Two Companies Organizing to Build Street Railways.

Mr. H. F. Heisterman applied to the Board of Aldermen last night for the right to run electric cars through the streets of Victoria for a term of fifteen years. The cars will be run on the storage system, which is in use in Los Angeles, California, and has also been running through the streets of Brussels for a number of years. The applicant handed in a map showing the different streets through which the cars will run, viz: Yates, Government, Pandora, Cook, North Park, Herald, Hillside, Second, John, King's Road, Store and Douglas streets. Crossing James Bay bridge, it is proposed to run a line up Bird Cage walk to Michigan street, along Michigan street to the outer wharf, and from thence along Dallas road to James Bay bridge. Each car will have a capacity of carrying from fifteen to twenty passengers and will not require an experienced man in charge, as the electricity will be stored beneath the car. The company which Mr. Heisterman represents are all residents of Victoria and are willing to take the matter in hand immediately after receiving the approval of the City Council. The fare to any part of the city on this line will not exceed five cents.

Capt. J. D. Warren, on behalf of the company, applied to the City Council last night for permission to erect poles, stretch wires, lay rails and run motor cars throughout this city. They ask for an exclusive franchise for fifteen years. Passengers will be carried to any part of the city for five cents and the company propose to erect works for electric lighting. The company, which is composed of Eastern and local capitalists, will start with a capital of $100,000. The communication was referred to the Electric Light and Street Committees.

THE GARDEN PARTY.

A Very Pleasant Event—Large Company Present.

The garden party at Government House, on Wednesday afternoon, in honor of Lady Macdonald, who is a guest with Lieut-Governor and Mrs. Nelson, was very largely attended, our leading citizens and a number of prominent visitors from the east being present. The excellent band of C Battery was stationed in the garden and contributed a choice programme of music. Refreshments were served in a marquee erected in the grounds. Owing to the slight shower, the principal feature was the dancing party. Several ladies played for the dancers, the most prominent being Mrs. James Angus, who was specially thanked by Mrs. Nelson and Lady Macdonald for contributing so much to the enjoyment of the afternoon, Lady Macdonald and the other guests were delighted with the reception, and expressed to Governor and Mrs. Nelson, their high appreciation of the hospitality they had received.

POLICE COURT.

(Before City Police Magistrate Richards, Q.C.)

Eugene Growley was charged with stealing a watch and chain. The owner of the articles said prisoner had a knife in his hand and threatened to kill witness if he said anything. Both witness and prisoner were drunk.

Officer Mitten testified to arresting prisoner in his cabin on Store street.

Prisoner said he was drunk and knew nothing of the matter. Prisoner was sure he did not steal the watch and chain.

Sergt. Sheppherd gave the prisoner a good character. He is a fireman on the steamer Pilot. Crowley was discharged.

Gus Barry, charged with driving a hack without a license. Fined $5.

Marine Notes.

The ship Hesper completed her cargo of lumber for Australia at Croft & Angus' mill yesterday.

British ship Trafalgar, from Burrard Inlet, arrived in Melbourne on September 12th.

Steamship Port Adelaide sailed from Hongkong on Aug. 31st, for Vancouver.

The bark Diamond was wrecked off Malden Islands June 18. When a short distance from the islands she sprang aleak. The captain then determined to beach the vessel, which was done, and the crew all escaped and were sent to Melbourne. The Diamond was bound from Melbourne to San Francisco with coal. She was owned in Melbourne.

The life of President Cleveland and his family at Oak View is just about that of the average American family of moderate means. The entire household is up by seven o'clock, and breakfast is served at eight. After breakfast the President and his wife sit out on the piazza awhile, or stroll about the grounds, and by nine o'clock he starts for the White House. The grounds at Oak View are in charge of a farmer and his wife, besides whom there are only two house servants.
